HEAD MASTER'S MESSAGE

So much is said and written concerning the changes taking place around us that high school graduates may well inquire what kind of world lies before them. Cities build housing projects, suburbs build homes; industry erects skyscrapers, education erects laboratories. Nations hurl missiles and rockets whirl around the moon.

Socially we have social security; economically we have a fifty-cent dollar. Educators are emphasizing the importance of gifted students; physicians are searching for new cures. So great are the prospects of change that one may become alarmed at one's own insignificance.

Well the way I see it there is no need for alarm. Changes have been taking place in the accidental things of life since the Lord created the world, and they will continue to exist. On the other hand, there are fundamentals that will not change come what may and our big job is to appreciate the difference between those which we may call the mutables or the accidental things in life and those which we may call the immutables or essential things in life.

The accidentals we may take in stride as they come our way and adjust to them as we see fit or as we must. The essentials we must adhere to as best we can, and they are stated as guides for all of us in the Ten Commandments the Lord gave to Moses on Mt. Sinai centuries ago.

The past fifty years has witnessed coal, oil, gas, and electricity as heating units. It has witnessed changes in travel by horse, automobile, aeroplane and helicopter. It has watched radio, television, transistor radar and sonar spring forth. People in turn have adjusted to these changes, and they will adjust to others.

On the other hand moral values have not changed: honesty, loyalty, integrity, decency, industry, remain unchanged. The young people stepping out into the world who realize the value of the changeables and of the unchangeables will steer a fairly smooth course through life if they recognized these facts and live accordingly.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

LAWRENCE HIGGINS

Commencement Day has finally arrived. This is the day we leave our schoolday friends and step into the world. To many of us commencement means the end of school, but actually it means the beginning of our lives as responsible citizens.

The fact that we are leaving school does not mean that our learning has come to an end. Far from it! We continue to learn something new every day of our existence. If we are going into higher education, we shall certainly be learning more about our chosen fields. If we are going into business or industry, we shall be learning the fundamentals of our new jobs. As young homemakers we shall most assuredly be learning about the real problems of life.

The transition from schoolboy or schoolgirl to manhood or womanhood is a difficult one, particularly in these days of profound social and economic problems. However, we have been shown, both at home and at school, the direction to travel so that we may attain good and worthwhile lives. It is for us to strive and serve towards that end.

EDITORS' MESSAGE

Fellow Classmates:

"When this you see, remember me."

This oft quoted line is appropriate to these pages. As you leaf them through, now and often in the many years that lie ahead, you will find that the important thing is to remember. "There's rosemary, that's for remembrance," said Ophelia. Her remembrances were sad ones, and so inevitably will be some of ours, but most of them, we hope, will prove to be very happy.

We extend to all who helped us create this book—especially to the faculty sponsors and advisors, Mr. Kelliher, Miss Gilman, and Mr. Walsh—our sincere thanks. We owe particular thanks to Mr. Farnham of Wm. J. Keller Inc. for wise and helpful advice and time generously given.

May we all live long to enjoy this book over many years. May it help us remember how once we were at the "Castle on the Hill."

DEDICATION

MR. WALTER J. KELLIHER

The graduating class of 1960 is honored in dedicating the "Gothic" to Mr. Kelliher of our faculty whose guidance from the outset was instrumental in making this issue possible. The patience, time and effort he expended throughout the year is as incalculable as it was unselfish.

The illness which forced his absence from us brought a sudden realization of our dependence on his knowledge and guidance in the intricacies involved in the creation of this yearbook. These few words are inadequate in praising our Mr. Kelliher who truly exemplifies that rare individual devoted to his profession.

We shall always be in his debt, and from our hearts we wish him a quick recovery and Godspeed.

CLASS ORATION

CAROL SILVER

Today is Class Day, a joyous one for us, for it is the culmination of our years of study in high school. We have reached our first rung of the ladder of Life. Today we are all on the same step of the ladder; from now on, it will be up to us to decide how much higher we shall rise towards the goals we seek.

With mixed emotions we face the prospects of making our debut in the adult world. Many of us will continue to attend institutions of higher learning for many years to come before embarking on the paths of our chosen professions, while still others will find happiness and success in the commercial world. We are happy, for we have so many new experiences to look forward to.

Yet, amidst our exultant anticipations, we feel a tinge of sadness, for now we must depart from our Castle on the Hill, where we have grown physically and mentally in the past three years. Here, we have felt secure and safe in our fortress towering above the city. Also, it is with deep regret that we must bid farewell to our many friends and faculty members whom we have learned to cherish and respect.

At this time, too, we remember how fortunate we are, the graduating class of 1960, for we have seen so many wondrous scientific advances in our relatively short sojourn on earth. Just think, that graduates from our alma mater but a decade ago, knew nothing of intercontinental-ballistic missiles, sputniks, Salk vaccine, or bloodless heart surgery! Is it not an exciting thought that perhaps one of our very own classmates will be inspired to contribute to the scientific advancement of humanity. We have come into a richer and more advanced society than did our forefathers and it is our moral obligation to make the world a better place for our posterity.

Graduation time is also a period of self-questioning: What are our purposes in life? What goals do we seek? How may we benefit humanity? Most important of all, we, and we alone, must find for ourselves the answers to these questions.

Today, Class Day, may also find us a little apprehensive, since it is now that we realize that we are soon to accept the responsibilities that we are to bear for the rest of our lives.

On this day, with our mixed emotions, our hearts are overwhelmed with gratitude to our parents and to our teachers who placed so much faith in us. We also thank the Almighty for His Divine guidance and for His granting us the privilege to be graduated from the Brighton High School and the wonderful United States of America.

CLASS POEM

Sea of Glory

Leslie Kemon '60

On life's wide road, harassed and harried,
Each treads alone his separate path.
Yet here, in "castle" high, we've tarried,
Been enlightened through a laugh,
Through lessons new, discoveries learned well,
Through every teacher's steadying hand,
Through our own thoughts' strident summons—
All these have helped to form a band
Of strength, within which we, the class of Nineteen-hundred sixty, stand.

This year we've reached our pinnacle.
Banners proud have we unfurled.
And we set forth, with learning armed,
To meet this mighty, challenging world!
Examples lie, along our trail,
Of truths absorbed and seen;
But as we tread life's rugged path
We'll find we've scarce been weaned.
In future years, as we employ
These lessons learned in sweet success,
We'll find within our hearts a store
Of strength, a wealth of gratefulness.

LINDA BOWMAN

CLASS HISTORY

Graduation is here at last. The day we have been anticipating for the past three years, and which we sometimes thought would never come has finally arrived. We are about to say goodbye to Brighton High and step out into our chosen careers. But no matter what we do after we leave, happy memories of our high school life will always remain with us.

Thinking back to the first time we entered Brighton, all of us smile faintly. We were so filled with anticipation and worry, and so afraid of getting lost! But Mr. McInerney's welcome made us feel at ease in our new surroundings, and the long straight corridors made it almost impossible to get lost. The new members of the faculty, who, we felt were sharing our plight, were Mr. Gordon, Mr. Gallagher and Mrs. DesAutels.

We soon became acquainted with our teachers, and we were invited to take part in such extra-curricular activities as the French Club, sports, and Brighton Towers.

Winter rolled around, and in December we viewed, for the first time, Brighton's traditional Christmas Pageant, which was an inspirational prelude to our Christmas holiday.

In Spring the sophomore girls witnessed the School Boy Parade, and we were filled with pride as we saw our cadets come off with first prize.

On Memorial Day, a service was held on the terrace in commemoration of the men and women who had died defending our country. The members of our faculty who had served in the Armed Forces reviewed our cadets, and the impressive outdoor service ended with the sounding of taps.

In May we elected Rachel Abate and Nancy Imbergamo to represent us on the cheerleading squad. The Student Council elected as its junior officers, Paul SooHoo, Vice-president and Linda Bowman, Treasurer.

The end of June marked the beginning of our summer vacation which, like all vacations, seemed to have wings.

In September we said hello to our old friends and made welcome the new members of the faculty, including Mr. McKenzie, Miss Rustino, and Mrs. Sheffler.

As juniors we began to take a more active part in sports and in other extra curricular activities.

In the sports department, the track team under

Beverly Mayfield

Coach McCabe was outstanding. We captured the division title and made a good showing in the district finals, finishing third. The juniors on the team included Russ Langford, Frank Scanga, and Calvin Topalian.

The basketball team, under Coach Sanford, included many of our promising classmates: Bob Lee, Jimmy McCloud, Bill Ace, Peter Neri, and Bob Shagoury.

With summer just around the corner, the cheerleaders, including Lois Montanari, Joanne Gray, Barbara DiMatteo, Barbara Mudarri, Nancy McGrath, Connie Calabro, Lorraine Saltre, Kitty Koufos, Betty Jean Charbonnier, and Gloria Cocuzzo were chosen.

We elected Bob Shagoury President of the Student Council, and Lorraine Wallace as Vice-President.

When team elections were held, the following boys were chosen as captains: Bob Lee, Basketball; Frank Scanga, Track; Richard Izzo, Hockey; and Chester Mathews and Bill Stuffle, Football.

Two girls bringing honor to our junior class were Dorothy Ellsbree, who, because of her excellent work in Junior Achievement, won a trip to the J. A. Convention in Indiana, and Barbara DiMatteo who was accepted into the Rockettes, at Radio City Music Hall, where she performed during the summer.

After a vacation that was over in a wink, we returned as seniors. On seeing the new sophomore class, many of us made the observation, "But they look too young to be in high school!"

We warmly welcomed many new faculty members this year, including Miss Reardon, Mrs. Boyle, Mr. Bruno, Mrs. Campbell, Mr. Harrington, Mrs. Kraus, and Mr. Masse. Mr. Pearlmutter and Mr. Goulston, who left us at the end of December, were replaced by Mrs. McGraine and Mr. Buck. To our sorrow, Mrs. Krauss left us at the end of February to teach in Newton. Mr. Galvin, who had previously retired from our school, returned this year and was warmly welcomed by the "Co-op" boys.

Our senior year progressed by leaps and bounds. Early in the year the various clubs held their elections, with Martha Cassalini becoming President of the Spanish Club, Lorraine Saltre of the Glee Club, Natalie Stark of the German Club, and Mary DiCicco of the French Club, and Arlene Miller of the Reading Club.

Editor-in-Chief of Brighton Towers, Barbara Farrell, the winner of a contest sponsored by the Boston Globe and the Ford Company, made a trip to Detroit, where she attended the Ford Press Review and Teen-Age Press Conference.

Chosen as Co-Editors of the Gothic were Beatrice Abrams, Linda Bowman, Dorothy Ellsbree and Lois Montanari.

On the football field we were proud of our team, including Co-Captains Stuffle and Mathews, James Redfern, Charles McNamara, Bob Lee and Edward Smith.

In January we held our class elections, and in a very close contest the following officers were chosen: Lawrence Higgins, President; Nancy McGrath, Vice-President; Diane Mutch, Secretary; and Nancy Imbergano, Treasurer. Linda Bowman was chosen as Historian, Carol Silver as Orator, while Lorraine Saltre, Linda Doherty and Alexandra Foundas composed the Executive Committee.

Chosen as class marshals were Dolores Athanasiou, Judith Buccacio, Francis Cammarata, Patricia Hamilton, Nancy LeFebre and Beverly Sabean. As our class motto we chose "No man was ever wise by chance," and we determined that we should always use these words of wisdom throughout our lives.

Bringing added honor to our class were Beverly Mayfield, who won a Gold Key in the Art Contest sponsored by the Boston Globe; Barbara Farrell, who was chosen as delegate to the Annual Convention of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association at Columbia University; and Linda Bowman, who received a Letter of Commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Test and was chosen as winner of the Betty Crocker Contest.

Almost before we were aware of them, the three most important events of our senior year arrived. The Senior Prom, with all its glamor and excitement; Class Day with its poignant mixture of happiness and sadness; and—most important of all—Graduation Day itself.

The three short years we have spent at Brighton have made an everlasting imprint on our lives. Graduation does not mark the end of the history of our class, for as graduates we will continue, by applying the lessons we so gladly learned, to add honor to the class of 1960.

CLASS WILL

Cynthia Kardon

We, the graduating class of B. H. S., year 1960, being of sound mind and excellent memory, do hereby proclaim this to be our last will and testament. With this thought in mind, we bequeath the following:

Frederick Samson and Joseph Lanno leave Mr. Wellings their sympathy, as he sighs, "Supplies! Supplies! My kingdom for supplies!"

Charlotte Nutter leaves Mr. Kelliher his Latin phrases which she does not understand.

Dolores Corolla leaves her youngest sister, Dorothy, all the best of luck and happiness in her days at B. H. S.

Dianna Iacoviello leaves B. H. S. a group of cheerleaders for the hockey team.

Nancy McGrath leaves Mrs. Boyle a new talking machine to take her place.

Margaret Goodwin leaves Mr. Wellings all the papers in the corridors of B. H. S.

Mary Cagney leaves Mr. Mazer all her unfinished typing papers.

Richard Boylen leaves Miss O'Leary his English books.

Eugene Richardson leaves Mr. McCabe his Desire to win, with a capital D!

Patricia Hamilton leaves Mr. Murray her vast knowledge of independent clauses.

Drusilla Norman leaves Mr. Murray all her old demerits.

Rita Risicato leaves Mrs. Kraus her notebook.

Judy Buccacio leaves Mr. Mazer all her broken fingernails.

Ellen Brearley leaves Miss Donahue her brother, whom she will receive in two years.

Carol A. Hegerich leaves Mr. Harrington her best wishes.

Joan Aquino leaves Mrs. Boyle a pile of demerit slips.

Barbara DiMatteo leaves Mr. Casey her undying spirit in his English class.

Karen Y. Brown leaves Mr. Casey all of her accumulated candy wrappers of 1959.

Eva Campbell leaves Mr. Casey a key to teenage hearts and an invitation to her wedding.

Yvette Thomas leaves Mr. Casey her fun-loving attitude.

Katherine Cronin leaves Miss Donahue her shorthand notebook.

David O. Brown leaves Miss Holland his typewriter.

Diane McGrath leaves Mr. Barry a waitress to bring his snacks.

Eleanor D. Nelson leaves Mr. Barry her shorthand notebook.

Joan Caliguiri leaves Mrs. Campbell someone else to count the stars.

Beverly Sabean leaves Miss Fee the yearly attendance records for the past three years.

Diane Daniels leaves Mr. Barry a jar of coffee.

Shirley M. Anderson leaves Mr. Barry two drops of cream in his coffee each day.

Mary Wagner, Pat McClanahan, Judith Finn, and Russell Langford leave Miss Adams a class of students as hardworking as those in la belle France.

George T. Kierstead leaves Mr. McKenzie his history book and his broken desk.

Kenneth Eugene Kaupp, Jr. leaves Mr. McCabe his gym uniform and his good humor.

Earl Hewitt leaves his gym uniform to Mr. McCabe.

Roy Griffin leaves Mr. Ambrose his sneakers so that he may run faster to catch the boys sneaking into the locker room.

John M. Gillis leaves Mr. McKenzie his smile. May he wear it in good health!

Lawrence Giangregorio leaves Mr. Hawes a solid gold monkey wrench.

Richard M. Fidalgo leaves Mr. Masse a new red pencil for next year.

Edward Emde leaves the office a new detention book for the boys of the Co-op Course.

Peter Doyle leaves Mr. Ambrose enough ties for two schools.

James M. Stoddard leaves all his home work to the incoming senior class.

Edward Pascucci leaves his pencil to Mr. Ambrose.

James Pacitto leaves his patience to Mr. Introini.

Joseph Oppito leaves his car to LaRosa. He may have better luck with it.

Paul Molloy leaves Mr. Rantuccio one green shamrock.

Chester Matthews leaves the Colonel his drill uniform.

John Vatalaro leaves Mr. Oakes one picture of himself so that he may remember him for many years.

Allan Trottier leaves next year's seniors his science book. (They'll need it.)

James J. Taplin leaves Mr. Masse his very slightly used English book.

Jerry Solimini leaves Mr. Ambrose six neckties for next year's sophomores.

William Stuffle leaves Mr. McCabe his cleats for his kids

Richard Stimans leaves his gym uniform to the school for someone who can't afford one.

Salvatore DiLorenzo leaves Mr. Passaretti all his demerits that he gave him so freely. (And he does mean freely!)

Nancy Annis leaves Miss Donahue's stare to next year's students to keep them in line.

Marcia Rue and Virginia Haslett leave to Mrs. Boyle three years' supply of demerits.

Joanne Colbath leaves Mr. O'Keefe and Mr. Harrington her history notes to converse about.

Judith Zagarella gives all her elusive demerits back to Mr. Murray.

Rosemary McDonnell leaves to B. H. S. all her notes for being absent in the last two years.

Rhoda Rotman leaves to B. H. S. her first Honor Roll certificate.

Barbara Mumford leaves Mrs. Heywood all the spelling words that she can possibly hope to obtain.

Cecelia Cole leaves Mr. Mazer a new thermos bottle for his morning coffee.

Barbara Mudarri leaves Mr. Murray a classroom of prize students, just like her, for his future happiness.

James O'Keefe leaves Roy Best all the teachers of his senior year whom he enjoyed so well.

Joe Wagner leaves Mr. McCabe the name "Smokey" to place on some new sophomore.

Connie Calabro leaves Mr. Casey a serious, intelligent student to replace her in next year's senior English class.

Charlotte Imperato leaves Miss Donahue the future seniors trying to keep up on dictation.

Barbara Paquette leaves her pegged gym bloomers to a future senior.

Dianne Mutch leaves a lifetime supply of coffee to Mr. Barry.

Nancy Imbergamo leaves next year's cheerleaders all the luck and strength in the world.

Gloria Birt leaves Mr. Mazer all her typing papers.

Lois Montanari leaves Mr. Kelliher her loud voice so that next year's pupils will be able to hear him.

Juliette Johnson says to Mr. Kelliher, "Tibi meos libros Latinos relinquo."

Barbara Litchman leaves B. H. S. her math classes.

Beverly R. Mayfield leaves to the youngsters of B. H. S. the happiness and sadness that awaits them.

Sandra Kasselman leaves Mr. Mazer all her old typing papers and the "A" she should have received.

Ruth E. Dombrowski leaves to her sophomore sister, her fine reputation with the teachers.

Susan Borzillo leaves Barbara Belmore her Brighton High School bracelet.

Mario Mummolo leaves to B. H. S. his younger brother and maybe himself.

Rosalind Monerman leaves to the Class of '61 her locker which always gets stuck.

Joanne B. Gray leaves to some lucky junior her presidency of the 2:30 club.

Joan McLean leaves B. H. S. her Business Law marks.

Mary Owens leaves to B. H. S. her pair of well-tailored gym bloomers, etc.

Priscilla Shilinsky leaves to B. H. S. her skis to descend the hill in winter.

Lorraine H. Saltre leaves B. H. S. one sour note for the future Glee Club.

Gerald T. Mahoney leaves all his worldly possessions.

Louise Morreo leaves a future senior her notebook for Miss Holland's shorthand dictation.

Harriet Catler leaves to the "K-T's" a new stamping machine.

Barbara Belmore leaves Susan Borzillo her pocket size dictionary.

Beverly Cramer leaves Mr. O'Keefe a new calendar with an original painting on it.

John W. Dewar leaves Mr. McKenzie all his demerits.

William B. Aiello leaves the future seniors of 110 the best of luck with Mr. Passaretti's nightly six-page home lessons.

James Allan leaves Mr. Oakes all his demerits for the past three years.

Joseph De Renne leaves Mr. Passaretti a longer stick to reach across the corridor to get at those pupils with rolled up sleeves.

Philip Amirault leaves his beloved sister.

Robert Barresi leaves his sister to the commercial course.

Gerald Antonellis leaves Mr. Casey half a dozen tennis racquets for his team.

Francis Cammarata leaves Miss Callahan the library book he borrowed in his sophomore year.

David Coveney leaves Mr. Vozella a dozen red pencils.

Laurel Barnes leaves the biology laboratory the biggest, fattest, most ferocious snake. (Try to dissect that!)

Barbara C. Bell leaves Miss Marshall a well-behaved and intelligent senior class.

Christine Canter leaves Mr. Kelliher her gift of gab, and would like to inform him that she did think sometimes —even though the results were disastrous.

Anne Mintz leaves Miss Greene an automatic board eraser.

Edward Sullivan leaves Colonel Sullivan his name, Ed Sullivan.

John Thomas leaves Miss Marshall a new copy of Henry Esmond.

Mary DiCicco leaves the B. H. S. students and the ones to come, all the work which she hasn't done.

Alexandra Foundas leaves Mr. Kelliher a class that knows when to keep their mouths shut . . .

Ruth Benjamin leaves the future History classes of Mr. O'Keefe, "So what?"

Carol Silver leaves to all the English teachers, suspenders for all their dangling modifiers.

Judy Hojlo leaves to Gloria Cocuzzo her big blue eyes and five feet of energy.

Dorothy Ellsbree leaves B. H. S. her three younger sisters, ages sixteen, fourteen, and five.

Judith Bovarnick leaves B. H. S. all her French books.

Beatrice Abrams leaves the pupils of B. H. S. her Latin and French home lessons.

Natalie Stark leaves her complicated physics experiments.

Edmund Barry graciously leaves Tom O'Brien his slightly used parking space.

Richard Bergman leaves an ulcer and a nervous headache.

Tony DeLuca leaves Miss Sullivan all his tardy notes.

James Noonan leaves to Mr. O'Keefe the word "actually" for his personal use.

Cyril Stevens leaves Colonel Sullivan a slightly used drill uniform and a pair of well-broken-in shoes.

Jane MacPhee leaves to Louise Mackie her short hair.

Martha Casalini leaves Mr. Wellings the well-known formula URA_2.

M. Brenda Smith leaves to Mr. O'Keeffe the chairmanship of the Board of Directors of the 2:30 club.

Linda Meltzer leaves Mrs. McGrane the snake in 307.

Thomas Mernin and John Foley leave Mr. O'Keeffe their perfect attendance record at B. H. S.

Ellen Wolff leaves Mr. Walsh an attentive class.

Stedman Briggs leaves Colonel Sullivan a foil-lined pocket to keep him from going up in flames.

Pat Tilley leaves Mr. O'Keeffe a rose for his lapel.

Frances Viani leaves to some unsuspecting senior her presidency of Miss Donahue's 2:30 club.

Lawrence Starr leaves the Towers a successful successor.

Sally Wagner leaves Brighton High her gym sneakers.

Lois Johnson leaves Dr. Moore's learned class.

Conrad Smith leaves Brighton High his old uniform.

Kenneth Bauman leaves Miss Sullivan a tin cup to collect all the nickels for chewing gum.

Francis Scanga leaves a choice front seat in Mr. O'-Keeffe's home room.

Robert Shagoury leaves Robert Garcea to Mr. Sanford.

John Cahill leaves Mr. McKenzie all his loud talk.

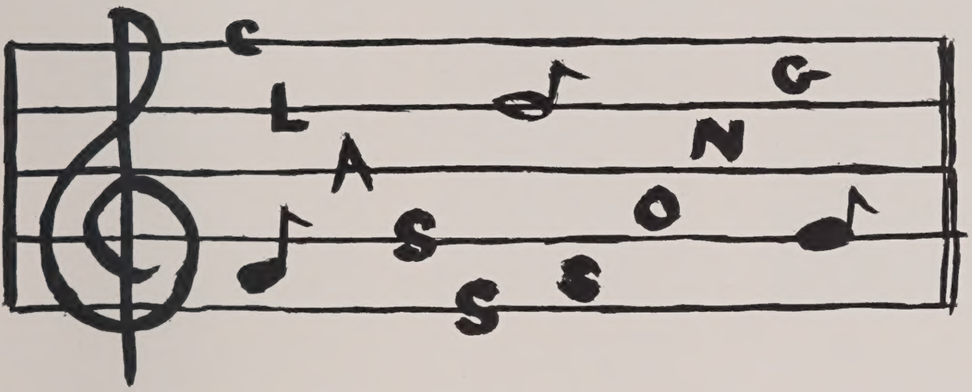
Ridgley Hall leaves all teachers an undying love for all students who enjoy "the gift of gab."

Sylvia M. Alden leaves to Mr. O'Keefe the name of Herman Shmultz.

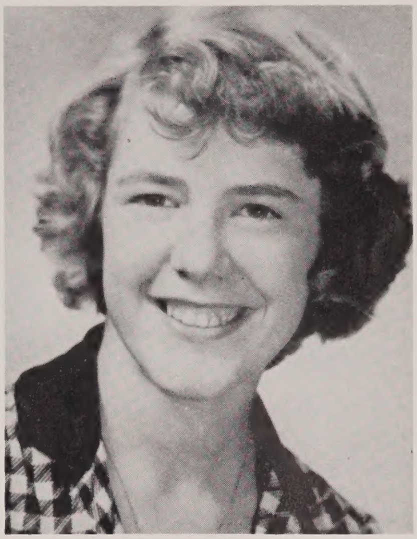
Eileen Shapiro leaves to Mr. Kelliher a quiet home room.

Leslie Blacker leaves to Miss Maguire a hearing aid for my Loud voice.

CLASS SONG



(To the tune of "Aulde Lang Syne")



Dorothy Ellsbree

As graduation day draws near
And high school years are past,
Each having chosen a career
We brave the world at last.

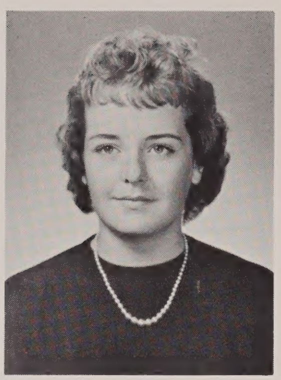
Let each within his chosen field
Strive on with heart and soul
Let guidance of men wiser, yield
Him progress towards his goal.

On land, on sea, or in the sky,
Each has his work to do,
Esteem he'll bring to Brighton High
And to his classmates too.

As from our Castle on the Hill
Inspired we depart,
Fond memories grow dearer still,
And closer to each heart.

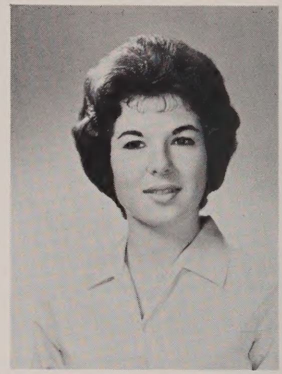
CLASS PROPHECY

Mary DiCicco



Linda Doherty

Ruth Dombrowski



Eileen Reine

As we, the Prophets of 1960, open the Treasure Chest of the future, who knows what we may find: jewels of prosperity, success, achievement, happiness, or stones of failure, ruin, destruction and grievance? Only we, the seniors of Brighton High School, can predict our future; for we ourselves make it. Now let us look into the future by way of the treasure chest of tomorrow.

As we take out the first jewel, a piece of coal (That's a jewel? Well, it will be after pressure), we see a high, gray building, quite gloomy. It is the local morgue. Inside busily working is Robert Kane, the head mortician. It seems Bob has attained his goal. Success comes in many ways.

Cynthia Kardon

Pulling out one of the darker stones we find John MacLean, John Dillon, and James Dooley attending Bentley's School of Accounting. (Well, it's only 1985, boys.)

Flying out of the box is one of the brighter stones. Looking in, we find English High for girls and as its headmaster, a male, Clarence Lee. Arlene Sohmer (formerly Arlene Miller) is now head of the English Department. Marilyn Rubin, the greatest dissector the school has ever had, is in control of a biology class. (At least, we hope so.) As we waltz down the corridor we find a tittering of noise. Peeking in we see Linda Sedman teaching Math (Oh well, it happens to the best of us). Teaching an all too quiet government class is Eileen Reine.

Looking into a rhinestone of the future, we located Chuckie McNamara, president of the Rotary Club (That's Ambition for you!).

The next bright and shining piece is a diamond glittering in all its splendor. Within it is the help of our nation,—our doctors and nurses. In the operating room, all too happily doing an appendectomy, is Dr. Arthur Oxner, ably assisted by Princess Owens (No accidents please!). In the research laboratory busily examining the latest germs is Richard Prussman. Unfortunately, Rita Fallon, laboratory nurse has been delayed on the road with a flat tire. Her job as a nurse is to visit patients in their homes. She won't be visiting them unless a helping hand happens along.

The next jewel, an opal, shows the distance some of us will have. Bobbie Farrell, our foreign ambassador, is found basking in the sun of the French Riviera. There, also taking vacations from their busy lives are: Mary Lou Lyons, Maureen O'Rourke, Jean Caligiuri, and the famous Florida senator, Anthony Nastasi. (Have fun kids!)

In a corner we find a garnet brimming with mechanics, engineers and technicians. In it we see electricians, John Steeves and Richard Cobb adjusting wires harmed by the current hurricane. Also we find mechanics, Bob Richards, Joseph Valenti, James Scott, and Thomas Curry repairing cars in Celli's garage. The owner of the garage is none other than Anthony Celli, who finds a worthwhile competitor in William Albanese. We see many other very successful engineers in other fields: William Stewart, Barry Berkowitz, Ernest Greene, and Robert Campanella. In some of the more important industrial cities, we find Diesel mechanic, Joseph Krukonis; aeronautic technician, Roger Randolph; automotive technician, John Gonsalves; aero mechanic, John Ford; and Diesel technician, Walter Watson. (They certainly attained their goals after moving outside Boston.)

Peter Neri is now driving along in a white convertible. (Who's that with you, Pete?) Our other millionaire Francis Callahan was not as fortunate. He still has to work for his wealth. Pulling out the largest stone, a turquoise, we see the new Prudential Center. On the first floor we find Barbara Zenis and Joan Watkins (What happened to John Hancock, Joan?). They are private secretaries for Robert Prevoir and Richard Thomas, our C.P.A.'s. Going up three flights, we find Paula Lisagor, Judy Swartz, Judy MacKinnon, and Helen Clark dashing madly for the door. (After all, it's 5:00 P.M., Friday). On the train, commuting home with their secretaries, Frances Vaiani and Geraldine Schwamb, are James Jourdan and Ed Campbell.

Finding a small jewel in the center of the box, we see a nursery school. Conducting the singing is Irma Scharff. Ruthie Shlevin and Cynthia Kardon, our favorite teachers are putting boots on the kiddies. (What's a little bit of snow in April?) Looking into a sapphire we see Katie Carter and Marilyn Brooks crediting all their purchases at Filene's to their parents. (Is this the credit to your parents you spoke of?) On the other side of the city, it is graduation time at Brighton High. The head speaker is David Doucette, the famous politician. In the audience patiently waiting is James McCloud, who finally succeeded in getting to Billy Ace's graduation. (Congratulations!)

The next sparkler, a crystal, tells us of the first women space travelers, Helen Fennelly and Nancy LeFebre. (They were always out of this world.)

As we pick up the next jewel we find in the Army William Murphy and Murray Mullen, making their fortune the easy way. (In the motor pool, of course.) In the Air Force we find electronic engineer, Robert Campanella; mechanic, Walter Bolt; and in the missile division, John Leaney. In this jewel we also see the new Automechanics Labor Union giving honor to its founder, William Gavelland.

Kenneth Rogers, Superintendent of Maintenance in the Boston Fire Department, has also been most successful.

The next jewel contains a small town called Rockerton where many celebrities live. Owner of the Motor Parts Store is William Monto. Standing near his desk is Nicholas LaRosa whose job is to see that the boss arrives on time. In business with his father at the Spanhope Auto Body Shop is Thomas Husband. Helping to construct the new hospital for retarded children are Alfred Maggio and John Foster. This new hospital will be under the supervision of Dr. Myra Mazer, well known for extensive work in the field of retarded children. She is assisted by her able receptionist, Faith Clinton. In the town college is Pamela Davis. Not a celebrity, but certainly a worthwhile personality, is Mrs. Paul Littlefield (the former Mary Ellen Ball) who is busily preparing supper for five girls and two boys. (She certainly got her wish.) Also living in the town is the well-known interior designer, Natalie Nathan, who has just finished decorating Senator Hushman's house. Another artistic, successful lady is Kit Kemon, who illustrates and writes children's books. Also situated in the town is the profitable Zahlaway-Even Corporation which has as its ardent employees, Dale Barton and Helen McGrath, and one of the cooperative retailers, Katherine Koufos.

Last, but not least, we have the old pebble, Calvin Topalian. Good luck, Cal!

It is the year 2030. We, the prophets of 1960, now close the Treasure Chest. Have we given you a glimpse of Tomorrow? Only time will tell!

OPENS UP
A BIG FUTURE
FOR ANY GIRL

When you graduate it's wonderful to have a telephone job waiting for you. You'll love the friendly new people you meet. And you'll like the excellent salary, the regular increases, the opportunities for advancement and the many additional benefits that make working for the Telephone Company so attractive to so many young people.

Telephone jobs are important ones. We have our own training program which you can enter without any previous job experience.

Why not come and see our employment interviewer soon . . . before you graduate. Ask the Guidance Counselor at your school to tell you when and where to apply.
